Lesson Objective:

[insert description here]

Teacher Instructions

Before the Lesson

1. Read the Big Ideas and Key Understandings and the Synopsis below. Please do not read this to the students. This is a description to help you prepare to teach the book and be clear about what you want your children to take away from the work.

   Big Ideas/Key Understandings/Focusing Question

   Synopsis

   [insert description here]
2. Go to the last page of the lesson and review “What Makes this Read-Aloud Complex.” This was created for you as part of the lesson and will give you guidance about what the lesson writers saw as the sources of complexity or key access points for this book. You will of course evaluate text complexity with your own students in mind, and make adjustments to the lesson pacing and even the suggested activities and questions.

3. Read the entire book, adding your own insights to the understandings identified. Also note the stopping points for the text-inspired questions and activities. Hint: you may want to copy the questions vocabulary words and activities over onto sticky notes so they can be stuck to the right pages for each day’s questions and vocabulary work.

The Lesson – Questions, Activities, and Tasks

The majority of questions, activities, and tasks should be based on the writing, pictures and features unique to this text (be text specific). Questions that address text-to-self or text-to-world connections - what we like to call text inspired questions or activities - should be held until after the children have really gotten to know the book.

This template is designed to be flexible. Feel free to insert or delete rows as needed for additional questions, activities, or tasks. Questions, Activities, and Tasks are all aligned to the CCSS for ELA and can address any of the following through reading aloud rich selections:

- Academic language exploration and learning(vocabulary and syntax)
- Speaking and Listening activities
- Writing activities
- Language activities and questions
- Creative performance tasks and activities that are text-specific or text-inspired
- Foundational reading skills reinforcement where appropriate

| FIRST READING:
Read aloud the entire book (or chapter) with minimal interruptions. Stop to provide word meanings or clarify only when you know the majority of your students will be confused. | The goal here is for students to enjoy the book, both writing and pictures, and to experience it as a whole. This will give them some context and sense of completion before they dive into examining the parts of the book more carefully. |
| SECOND READING:
Provide questions and activities that go well with this section of the book. Make sure you lay out the activities with clear instructions to the teacher.
Remember to pay attention to the vocabulary that shows up here, to the pictures, and to hard or unusual sentences! You can ask about them in a question or make an activity or task that taps into the text in a unique way. | Every question, activity or task should be addressed here.
Please line the bullets up or create more rows so teachers can easily see the alignment. |
| THIRD READING:
Provide questions and activities that go well with this section of the book. Make sure you lay out the activities with clear instructions to the teacher.
Remember to pay attention to the vocabulary that shows up here, to the pictures, and to hard or unusual sentences! You can ask about them in a question or make an activity or task that taps into the text in a unique way. | Every question, activity or task should be addressed here.
Please line the bullets up or create more rows so teachers can easily see the alignment. |
| FOURTH AND BEYOND:

What Makes This Read-Aloud Complex?

1. Quantitative Measure
   Go to http://www.lexile.com/ and enter the title of your read-aloud in the Quick Book Search in the upper right of home page. Most texts will have a Lexile measure in this database.

   Most of the texts that we read aloud in K-2 should be in the 2-3 or 4-5 band, more complex than the students can read themselves.

   2-3 band        420-820L
   4-5 band        740-1010L

2. Qualitative Features
   Consider the four dimensions of text complexity below. For each dimension*, note specific examples from the text that make it more or less complex.

<table>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Language</td>
<td>Knowledge Demands</td>
</tr>

3. Reader and Task Considerations
   What will challenge my students most in this text? What supports can I provide?

   How will this text help my students build knowledge about the world?

4. Grade level
   What grade does this book best belong in?

Common Core Standards
Qualitative Features of Text Complexity Explained
Companion to the Qualitative Dimensions Scale

(To be consulted in filling out the rubric and in conjunction with anchor texts)

Structure (could be story structure and/or form of piece)
- Simple → Complex
- Explicit → Implicit
- Conventional → Unconventional
- Events related in chronological order → Events related out of chronological order (chiefly literary texts)
- Traits of a common genre or subgenre → Traits specific to a particular discipline (chiefly informational texts)
- Simple graphics → sophisticated graphics
- Graphics unnecessary or merely supplemental to understanding the text → Graphics essential to understanding the text and may provide information not elsewhere provided

Language Demands: Conventionality and Clarity
- Literal → Figurative or ironic
- Clear → Ambiguous or purposefully misleading
- Contemporary, familiar → Archaic or otherwise unfamiliar
- Conversational → General Academic and domain specific
- Light vocabulary load: few unfamiliar or academic words → Many words unfamiliar and high academic vocabulary present
- Sentence structure: straightforward → Complex and varied sentence structures

Knowledge Demands: Life Experience (literary texts)
- Simple theme → Complex or sophisticated themes
- Single theme → Multiple themes
- Common everyday experiences or clearly fantastical situations → Experiences distinctly different from one’s own
- Single perspective → Multiple perspectives
- Perspective(s) like one’s own → Perspective(s) unlike or in opposition to one’s own

Knowledge Demands: Cultural/Literary Knowledge (chiefly literary texts)
- Everyday knowledge and familiarity with genre conventions required → Cultural and literary knowledge useful
- Low intertextuality (few if any references/allusions to other texts) → High intertextuality (many references/allusions to other texts

Knowledge Demands: Content/Discipline Knowledge (chiefly informational texts)
- Everyday knowledge and familiarity with genre conventions required → Extensive, perhaps specialized discipline-specific content knowledge required
- Low intertextuality (few if any references to/citations of other texts) → High intertextuality (many references to/citations of other texts

Levels of Meaning (chiefly literary texts) or Purpose (chiefly informational texts)
- Single level of meaning → Multiple levels of meaning
- Explicitly stated purpose → Implicit purpose, may be hidden or obscure

1 Though vocabulary can be measured by quantifiable means, it is still a feature for careful consideration when selecting texts
2 Though sentence length is measured by quantifiable means, sentence complexity is still a feature for careful consideration when selecting texts

Creating Questions for Close Analytic Reading Exemplars: A Brief Guide

1. Think about what you think is the most important learning to be drawn from the text. Note this as raw material for the culminating assignment and the focus point for other activities to build toward.

2. Determine the key ideas of the text. Create a series of questions structured to bring the reader to an understanding of these.

3. Locate the most powerful academic words in the text and integrate questions and discussions that explore their role into the set of questions above.

4. Take stock of what standards are being addressed in the series of questions above. Then decide if any other standards are suited to being a focus for this text. If so, form questions that exercise those standards.

5. Consider if there are any other academic words that students would profit from focusing on. Build discussion planning or additional questions to focus attention on them.

6. Find the sections of the text that will present the greatest difficulty and craft questions that support students in mastering these sections. These could be sections with difficult syntax, particularly dense information, and tricky transitions or places that offer a variety of possible inferences.

7. Develop a culminating activity around the idea or learning identified in #1. A good task should reflect mastery of one or more of the standards, involve writing, and be structured to be done by students independently.
